

WILLIMANTIC

A big time for the people who remain in Willimantic on Labor Day, is being planned by a committee of citizens who met Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. and organized. As there is a desire to have an event of community character on the holiday the committee anticipate that their efforts will be appreciated and that the event which will be entirely free, will be largely attended.

Recreation Park is the place favored for the public gathering. A programme of sports for young people is suggested along with a ball game of four or five innings. Special events for enlisted men, Boy Scouts, the Windham Girls' club, and other organizations, are being considered.

Members of the general committee are J. D. Elmendorf, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Ex-Mayor Daniel P. Dunn, George M. Pollard, James H. Hurley, Robert Branch, Robert H. Fenton, Miss Mary Harris, Miss Myra C. Smith, William E. Higgins, Lester Beebe, H. J. Martindale, R. C. Rose, John Donahue and Kenneth Hillhouse. At the initial meeting of the committee Mr. Elmendorf was chosen chairman and Mr. Martindale secretary.

Further plans regarding entries, athletic events, meet officials and the prizes will be decided upon at the next meeting of the committee to be held Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 8 o'clock. The evening of Labor Day will probably be the main event and will be held at Recreation Park as the local branch office of the United States Employment Service is arranging to secure a prominent speaker for that date.

There was a fight between a sailor and several civilians at the corner of Main and Railroad streets, at midnight, Saturday, after the dance. An eyewitness states that the trouble started when one of the civilians of a party threw a cigar butt at the sailor, which hit him in the eye. The sailor was not aggressive but asked the young man to take better aim for the street next time. When the man responded in an angry tone, the sailor told him if he wanted to fight, to join the navy, as he had done. This seemed to strike home to the civilian, for he started to try to do up the sailor with the assistance of his comrades.

The arrival of the police stopped the affair, though several of the witnesses received a few of the blows which were delivered. This is the first fight between the sailors and a civilian in this city. The civilian wasn't a Willimantic man. Large numbers of sailors come to this city every week end and seldom cause any trouble.

Thomas Horrigan of Mansfield paid $8.00 in the police court, Saturday morning, when he pleaded guilty to intoxication. He was fined $2 and costs. Joseph Moriarty also charged with the same offense, pleaded not guilty. He was fined $5 and costs and placed on probation, the costs to be paid during his probation period.

George Askaf pleaded not guilty to assault on David Williams. Williams said that Askaf hit him in the eye Friday evening, and he had a "shiner" to prove it. The case was continued until this morning to get further evidence. Williams seems to be the center of attraction, for he was the complainant in the case of Kelly Bartons, whom he charged with hitting him with a club on last Monday. Kelly was fined $5 and costs.

William Shortell of 155 High street is recovering from a serious accident which occurred last Thursday. He is a car inspector for the New Haven railroad, and while in front of the station, he was struck by the switch engine. One rib was broken and the side of his face and one leg was badly bruised.

Nineteen young men who had, come twenty-one years of age since last June 5, registered in this city on Saturday for the selective draft. The registration was very light, and fairly regular for 2 registered before noon, 10 more by 7.30, and only one more up to closing time, 9 o'clock. It is not known just how many registered in Moosup and Chairman Danielson's office for the day, but up to eight o'clock in the evening 11 had registered, so the added men will total about 30. Questionnaires will soon be sent to these men and they will be classified and given their examinations in short order.

The death of John J. Keirans, who is well known in this city, occurred at the Backus hospital, Saturday morning. He had been receiving treatment at the hospital for some time. He was born in Middletown, the son of Patrick and Hanna (Barry) Keirans, and was 52 years old. Most of his life was spent in this city, where he held several positions. He was at one time a supernumerary policeman and train announcer at the Union station. He was also in the liquor business later, and just before going to the Norwich hospital he was a dresser tender at the Thread Mills.

He is survived by his wife, four sons, John W. of Camp Devens, James E. in France, William H. of New Haven, and Walter of this city; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Kirby of this city, Mrs. William King of Boston, and Mrs. E. L. Bowler of Providence, and Mrs. Alice Casey of New Haven.

The funeral of John E. Young was held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the mortuary chapel, Jackson street, at 8.45, followed by a requiem high mass at St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock. The casket was borne by the Rev. J. J. Sullivan, who was the celebrant. There was special music. The bearers were Timothy Gillon and Thomas Ashton representing Francis S. Long post of which the deceased was a member. Judge J. F. Twomey and Timothy Sheedy. The casket was draped in an American flag. Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The funeral of George H. Foster was held at the home of his son in Lebanon, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. J. J. Sullivan was the celebrant. The bearers were J. Rush Foster, Christy H. Foster, Myron C. Peckham, George E. Briggs, Henry Briggs and Albert J. Comstock. Interment was in the Lebanon cemetery, in charge of Funeral Director J. M. Shepard.

Willimantic paid homage to Captain Dobbie of the French army, when several thousand thronged Recreation Park, Sunday evening to hear him speak at the mass meeting at the hotel. Captain Dobbie was entertained at the Hotel Hooker by members of the committee, entertaining prominent city and French officials. Following the reception, the party left for the park in automobiles, twelve machines being used. The car containing the captain was draped in American and French flags, and containing Acting Mayor Bowen, representing the city, Frank P. Fenton, representing the town, J. J. Martindale, representing the United States, and Rev. Papillon, representing the French church, and Clement Hurteau, representing French societies in Willimantic.

The concert began at exactly 7.30, with the playing of America. After two other selections by the band, Miss Monica McKee gave a vocal solo, and the French national song was played in honor of the captain.

Chairman Martindale, in a few words, told how we were indebted to France in the present war. He told how it was impossible for all to go to the front, and those at home must produce for our fighting men. He said that the new draft will make it imperative for all to enter war work, and also that women should fill the gap caused by the mobilizing of man power.

Captain Dobbie then was introduced. He generously thanked all present for the part they had taken in his welcome and called all his friends, for were they Americans or French, he came to this France's rescue? As friends, he told them how Lafayette came to this country and aided us in 1776, and America, who never forgets, is now aiding France.

As an officer, he told of the invasion of Belgium, and the atrocities. How America and France had united in the great struggle, causing the coinage of a new word, Franco-American, not a hyphenated word, but a single word. He told of his intense hatred of the Kaiser, not for the German people who were forced into the war. In August 1914, he had no thought of war in his home, but one evening, at 9 o'clock, he received orders to report for duty in 22 hours. He was a student, humanity was saved. Now we are pushing the Hun back to Germany, and with the aid of the United States, the end is not far off. He then made a short address in French.

The band concert then continued. After the concert, the members of the Federation of French Societies of Willimantic gave an informal reception to Captain Dobbie at the Valley street armory.

Michael L. Hickey, one of the town's best known citizens, died on Sunday morning at his home, 151 Union street, after an illness of five days. He contracted a cold on Monday last, pneumonia developed and his condition became critical from the start. Mr. Hickey was born in Newtown, Limerick county, Tipperary, Ireland, July 4, 1837, and came to this country in 1849. He worked in Webster for three years and came to Willimantic in 1852. After working several years in the neighboring towns and for the Willimantic Linen company, he engaged in the grocery business with his brother, the late John Hickey in 1864. The business proved very successful and he retired in 1864. Since that date he has looked after his private estate.

Mr. Hickey was considered a very shrewd investor and was often called on for advice along these lines. He possessed a very genial disposition and always had a smile for all. He loved to be with the crowd. It goes without saying that his familiar figure will be missed by the people of Willimantic. Besides a wife, he leaves two sons, George W. and Louis F. Hickey.

Variegated Notes.

John Dunn of Hartford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Zephire Mathieu, 105 Union street. He is one of the Hartford men who is to go to Camp Greenleaf this week.

Omer Houle has resigned his position with the American Thread company and will report at the Phoenix Valley Novelty company, at North Andover, this Monday morning. He is to be one of their traveling salesmen. Some time Saturday evening or early Sunday morning, one of the front plate glass windows of Bretschneider's saloon in the Lower Village was broken. The saloon was entered and two bottles of wine stolen.

Dr. Frank O'Loughlin of Hartford sent out a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Osterheimer of Spruce street.

Extra trolley cars were run between this city and New London, by way of Norwich, Sunday morning for the benefit of the camp ground, but "double headers" were run past the grounds all day.

Two Willimantic men, whose last names are Gamble and Cole, leave for Camp Greenleaf, Ga., with the local boys, Tuesday. These two men registered in New Haven, so credit for their induction will not be given to the local boys.

The eighty-two men and five alternates who are to be sent to Camp Greenleaf, Tuesday, will report at the town hall tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The roll will be called, and officers selected. These officers will have much more authority than in the past, because of the new regulations.

William P. Dinneen and L. G. Gerry of this city have returned from Springfield, Mass., where they attended the convention of the New England Photographic association.

Daniel J. Cronin, who registered in this city for the draft, and went to Camp Sherman, from Ohio, has been rejected for physical disability. He is the thirteenth man to be rejected from the eighty-two who will go.

Cadet William C. Mullemdore of the Cambridge Aviation school, formerly connected with the Hoover Food administration, Washington, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Randall and daughter, Irene, of Norwich, are spending a few days with Mr. Randall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Randall of Valley street.

Willimantic men home on Sunday furloughs included Fred Backus Martin Mullen, Frank McDonough, Eugene Moriarty, George Casey, Clayton Taylor, Frank Cunningham, John Rouse, Henry Haddad.

Irving Webb, a native of Scotland, and a member of Company L, 102nd Infantry was severely wounded in action on July 23. He is nineteen years old. It is probable that his injuries are not serious.

Private Webb was born in Scotland, August 25, 1898. He lived in that place most of his life, in fact until two years ago, when he came to this city and lived on Maple avenue with his mother, Mrs. Michael F. Sugrue. He enlisted in Company L, on the day that it was mobilized, and at the time was 18 years old.

Rev. Harry S. McCready of York Village, Maine, has accepted the call issued to him by the local Congregational church. He will preach his first sermon in this city as pastor of the church on the first Sunday in October. Rev. McCready preached at the local church some time ago, and as the pastor, Rev. Vernon W. Cook is now engaged in war work. They decided to send a call to the Maine pastor, as he created in a fine impression on the congregation.

The funeral of William H. Buell was held at his home in Columbia, Sunday afternoon, at 2.30. Rev. T. Newton Owens officiating. The funeral was largely attended. The bearers were Roland Cobb, Robert Cobb, Herbert C. Walker, William Hollister, Roland Smith, Arthur Reed. Interment was in the West Street cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Funeral Director J. N. Shepard.

"Bob" Snow, a former Willimantic correspondent of the Norwich Bulletin, is spending his vacation in this city. Mr. Snow is now employed by the American Thread company in Holyoke in a responsible position.

Willimantic Camp Ground

The closing Sunday morning of the institute opened pleasant and cool, a continuation of the ideal weather of all the week. Campers experienced one by one a feeling of sympathy as word was passed that their former beloved district superintendent, Rev. J. J. Bartholomew, Ph. D. had in the early morning hours of the first of the week had his right arm broken just above the wrist. He went to St. Joseph's hospital, had it set and in the afternoon went to his daughter's in Manchester.

The church at Prayer, was the topic of the hour of worship. It was conducted by Rev. J. E. Duxbury, of Thompsonville. The church cannot live without prayer. Prayer consists of both desire and faith. Our attitude toward Christ is a continual prayer. The four men who bore the sick of the palsy to Christ uttered no words, but their act of letting the man down through the roof to Jesus was the strongest kind of a prayer, expressing a desire and faith.

Rev. Otis Moore was so busy in his special work on the committee for the Centenary of Foreign Missions as to be unable to be on the grounds. In consequence his hour was omitted and the first institute period was at 8.40 under the direction of Miss Ruth O. Val-Halford, Boston, who addressed the young women on Social Service, at the South Manchester House.

Rev. S. Stocking, Danielson, had the topic of Home Missions, the next hour, and G. E. Mossman, Brockton, closed with Foreign Missions the last hour.

Sections on the walls of the tabernacle were assigned to the various leagues of the district for decorations, with prizes offered for the three best decorated panels. Rev. G. Elmer Mossman, Brockton, and Will W. Gordon, Hazardville, awarded first prize to New London Epworth League. It had for design a panel trimmed with red, white and blue. Inside was a fine colored picture of the Centenary of Foreign Missions. President Willson surrounded by pictures of some of the New London boys in the service. Service flags showed stars for twenty-two Epworth Leaguers in the service, including officers of companies and one Y. M. C. A. worker. The honor roll of the church showed 74 names on their honor roll, including three women and a lad, Arthur Neale, groomed at the suburbanary near New London. Above these was a group picture of the flags of the allied nations. Above this was a pretty picture of the cross, with the words Hoffman's Head of Christ, which gave the title of the design, Christ Over All. Credit is due Mrs. William Ellwood, of New London, who made the design and erected it.

The second prize was awarded to the Manchester League, the title of whose design was in the Cross of Christ I Glory. There was a service flag containing 25 stars. The Red Cross was at the top. The third prize was awarded the league at Putnam, which had 15 stars in its service flag. Other competing leagues represented by the Red Cross were the Epworth League, Danielson, Gales Ferry, Uncasville and Moosup.

One panel contained upon a large white background a number of snapshots of the missionaries, sent out from Norwich District a couple of years since, and who is in China, Rev. Duncan P. Dodd, who went from the pastorate at Putnam, China, was also an interesting letter from Mr. Dodd, dated at Chinkiang, China, June 17, 1918, in which he gave an account of how the $100 sent him last year by the Epworth League had been expended in helping sick at the hospital, in educational work, and labors in outlying districts. At the bottom were enrolled the leagues which are also an interesting letter from Mr. Dodd, dated at Chinkiang, China, June 17, 1918, in which he gave an account of how the $100 sent him last year by the Epworth League had been expended in helping sick at the hospital, in educational work, and labors in outlying districts.
